Muzoon Almellehan

"Education is the solution!"
"It opens the doors in front of us"

By Merryn Duffy

Education is the key to success

Mazoon Almellehan was a refugee in siria. She had to flee to Jordan. She went to a refugee camp runned by Unicef. She was only 16 years old. In the camp all the girls were getting married under 18 because then there husbands would look after them. Muzoon Almellehan wasn't happy about this.

she wanted them to have education she wanted them to finish school before they got married. She was very happy because unicef had built a school then she had a chance to learn.

Ahmet's story

This is Ahmet's home before he had to flee. He has a Mum, Dad, Sister, and a cat. He has a football, which shows he played football in Syria. He has a nice house and car, so he probably has enough money. There are mountains, so he could live in North West Syria (around Aleppo). In this drawing, Ahmet is happy because he is home with his family and no war.

There is a war in Ahmet's home, and he and his family have to run away. There are lots of dead people lying on the ground, and people holding guns. Planes are dropping bombs and there are fires everywhere. This could maybe be Aleppo. In this picture

Ahmet is really sad, because his home has been destroyed. Ahmet and his family fled their war-torn home and they walked over mountains to try and find safety. Ahmet is carrying the same backpack, and there are doves crying in the sky.

I think Ahmet would be really worried and exhausted, because he has left everything behind and he has walked for ages.

In this picture, Ahmet is crossing the Mediterranean Sea in what looks like a lifeboat, and his sister isn't there. There are lots of people on the boat and one person has fallen into the water and could be drowning. In this picture, Ahmet is probably REALLY worried because that boat doesn't look safe, and he has lost his sister. He might just feel completely hopeless because his life is awful.
